WATERBURY HACKMEN Kept to Fixed Charges-One Passenger Taxed $11.

Steps are to be taken to bring before the board of aldermen the question of an ordinance regulating the hackmen of the city. They have enjayed im-munity from restraint so long that many have become callous as far as the rights of the traveling public are concerned, and the only thing that will give the public a square deal in this method of transportation is to have every backman Heensed and under rules that can be broken only at the cost of the license. Hardly a day passes that complaints are not lodged with the police or city officials regarding ent or resusonable prices and do not Supit. George M. Beach of the police department states that an ordinance such as is provided in New Haven or Hartford is a practical necessity for Waterbury. The conditions are noto-rious, but previous efforts to secure uch an ordinance have falled. issuance and revocation of licenses
